Monroe Central High School Mission Statement:

Monroe Central Junior-Senior High School, in partnership with the community, maintains a supportive environment, providing opportunities for students and staff to develop their full potential as citizens of a global society.

School Information:

Monroe Central Junior-Senior High School, a part of the Monroe Central School Corporation, is located on the western edge of Randolph County in east central Indiana. Monroe Central, which opened in 1964, is a consolidation of Green Township, Stoney Creek Township, Parker City, and Farmland high schools and encompasses approximately 85 square miles. The existing facility, first occupied in April 1978, replaced the original building, which was destroyed in April 1974, by a tornado.
